

T Drinkers share what T
means to them

T serves as my 24/7 companion addressing a large variety of my use cases. Each day, T educates me, T entertains me, T makes me smarter. More I use T, more I learn how to benefit still more from T and also from everyone else's interactions with T.

I think the non-T drinker is to become
for a T drinker what the
ape is to the human,
namely, a laughing
stock or a painful
embarrassment.

One of the main reasons I now use T &
noThing else is 'cause
everything else is dead
boring, dead outdated,
brain dead.

I am sure that T is by far the greatest invention since the world wide web was
invented over quarter
of a century ago.

T is the perfect antidote to a lot that is wrong in today's mad world which appears to be getting madder each passing day.

What mind, what era,
what place led to the invention of T ... to that mind, to that era and also to that place I bow my head in appreciation as tears of joy stream down both
my cheeks.

I remember the primary domain name for T, RFTGYC, as
ReFlecT (to) Grow Your Cleverness. How do you prefer to remember it?

With a few clicks here and there in T, I can produce a googol-many different Books, each
unique, each of a
quality unsurpassable.
Isn't this ability that T
has bestowed on me
godlike?

Why do you so charge
so little for a product that has completely
transformed both my
life and my work
forever?

Stop, think & understand. Rushing
around in the world
without appreciating
the richness of what is out there is far from ideal. ReFlecT (to)
Grow Your
Comprehension by drinking T regularly like I do.

To live life like a fool, I know Google is quite adequate. To live life like every smart person today must do, I also know that drinking T is both sufficient and necessary.

Each day T tells me
scores of thoughts of such quality and importance that I could scour the web for scores of years and still not be able to find even one of them.

How much is a 24/7
companion that enlightens & entertains
in equal measure
worth? Priceless? I agree.

It is easy for me to see that at least 5 million years of human thought
have gone into the construction of T. I think it is now only a matter of time before T will be seen to be the biggest "natural"
phenomenon over the same duration of time
after mankind sees itself surrounded by its brighter-than-a-thousand-suns sparkling
intelligence.

T is just like a breath of fresh air. I was feeling suffocated by having to use the same old same old services all day long till someone kind to me brought T to my attention.

When with T, I seem to be flying among the clouds. How come?
Figuratively, I reach
such heights that,
when I look down,
today's Internet looks
all One.

The new way I teach
the alphabet to my children: A for Apple, B
for Boy, ... and T for T,
their and everyone
else's lifelong
companion.

Smart people like me
don't waste our time
complaining about the
products big boys toss
at us. We have all
switched to far far better products such as T made by far far
smaller companies.

I know data is the new natural resource. Any organization or individual that can leverage it fully using T to make faster, smarter decisions will undoubtedly prosper. I now know I will prosper.

T gives me completely unbiased information culled from sources picked uniformly from all over the world. I pity those who rely on only one or two information sources to decide how to run their lives and businesses.
